54TH AND 55TH ACTIVITY REPORTS

OF THE

AFRICAN COMMISSION ON HUMAN AND PEOPLES' RIGHTS

Presented in accordance with Article 54 of the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights
I. SUMMARY

1. The 54th and 55th Combined Activity Reports of the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights (the Commission or the ACHPR) are presented to the Heads of State and Government of the African Union (AU), in accordance with Article 54 of the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights (the African Charter) and cover the period from 10 November 2022 to 10 November 2023.

2. The activities presented in this Report that the Commission undertook during the period under review are geared towards achieving the priority areas set out in the Commission's 2021-2025 Strategic Plan. Accordingly, the Commission's statutory meetings were devoted in particular to strengthening the protection mandate by processing Communications on alleged human rights violations, thereby reinforcing the Commission's implementation of its mandate to protect human and peoples' rights. This mandate is further strengthened by the Commission's interventions on urgent and pressing human rights issues through urgent appeal letters, press releases, resolutions and letters of congratulations.

3. It also includes activities relating to better promotion of human rights on the continent, as required by the African Charter.

4. The activities carried out by the Commission's Special Mechanisms and the consideration of Reports of States Parties to the African Charter on the implementation of the rights and freedoms enshrined in the African Charter have contributed to the improvement of national legal and institutional frameworks for the promotion and protection of rights at national level through the adoption of new laws, the revision of existing laws and the creation or reform of relevant institutions in States Parties. The Report also presents issues relating to the Commission’s finances, staffing and functioning, as well as the Commission's recommendations on the human rights situation on the continent.

II. BACKGROUND

      c) To cooperate with other African and international institutions concerned with the promotion and protection of human and peoples' rights;

   ii. To ensure the protection of human and peoples' rights under the conditions laid down in this Charter;

   iii. To Interpret any provision of the present Charter at the request of a State Party, an OAU Institution or an African Organization recognized by the OAU; and xxiv. The positive effects of the new law on gender equality and women's empowerment in Sierra Leone led to an increase in the number of women politicians in the June general elections (the percentage of women parliamentarians rose from 14.5% to 30.4%, a remarkable development).

Refugees, Migrants and Internally Displaced Persons

xxv. Statetlessness: The adoption of the Protocol on Specific Aspects of Nationality and eradication of statelessness at the end of 2023 by the Specialised Technical Committee on “Justice and Legal Affairs”; xxvii. The finalisation and adoption by the Central African Republic of a national plan to eradicate statelessness by 2024;

xxxvi. Successful fight against cholera in Mozambique

Human rights situation in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic

i. Improvement in the situation of the Covid 19 pandemic on the continent, allowing the associated restrictions to be relaxed and/or lifted;

b) Areas of Concern

55. However, the Commission remains concerned about the following negative human rights developments during the reporting period:

Unconstitutional Changes of Government

i. Two unconstitutional changes of government in Niger and Gabon, with alleged or real aborted attempts at violent seizure of power in Burkina Faso, Gambia and Sudan.

Participation in public affairs of one’s country

ii. The non-organisation of elections in countries where the normal constitutional order has been disrupted or where security crises are preventing citizens and populations from participating freely and democratically in public affairs;

Right to Life
iii. In Burkina Faso, the asymmetric conflict, for which the nebula of terrorism appears to be the catalyst, continues to claim civilian victims, as demonstrated by the summary executions of civilians in Nouna and the massacre in Yirgou;

iv. The massacre of at least 48 civilian demonstrators against MONUSCO on 30 August 2023 in Goma, Democratic Republic of Congo

v. Violations of the right to life and physical integrity committed by the police in Mozambique, in particular executions and torture;

Death Penalty

vii. Persistence of the death penalty in some countries; only 16 African countries have ratified the Second Optional Protocol to the ICCPR aiming at the abolition of the death penalty; viii. Non-ratification by certain States Parties of numerous international and regional human rights Conventions, some of which at regional level have not yet reached the minimum of 15 ratifications and actual deposit of instruments of ratification to enter into force, in particular the Protocols on Older Persons, Persons with Disabilities and on Social Security, etc.;

Legislation

ix. Low level of implementation of the Maputo Protocol and non-submission or late submission of periodic reports under the Maputo Protocol and the Kampala Convention⁶;

x. Lack of legislation to regulate online violence against women in many African countries;

xi. Lack of harmonisation and implementation of regional and international human rights instruments at national level in many States; xii. A number of States have not ratified the OPCAT or set up national preventive mechanisms to monitor places of detention.

xiii. Some UNCAT signatory States have not criminalised torture and other ill-treatment in accordance with the UNCAT.

xiv. Some States have not lifted all the measures and restrictions imposed during the COVID-19 pandemic that could constitute torture or ill-treatment.

Prisons and the use of force

xv. Persistence of police brutality, excessive use of force and the resulting culture of impunity within the police in many countries, particularly Angola, Kenya, Mozambique, Senegal, the Democratic Republic of Congo, etc.

⁶ To date, only Cameroon has submitted its initial report on the Kampala Convention.
xvi. The challenge of prison overcrowding and the lack of disaggregated data on prison overcrowding in most countries and the dilapidated facilities in prisons, most of which are over half a century old.

xvii. Most African countries have no budget to build prisons that meet international standards and are capable of self-maintenance.

Freedom of Association and Expression xviii. The persistence of legislative frameworks and legal restrictions that severely hamper the work of associations and civil society organisations in certain countries;

xix. The adoption of bills which, in their current form, reduce civic space, in particular the bill on the status of non-governmental organisations adopted by Parliament in Angola and the bill on the amendment of private voluntary organisations adopted by Parliament in Zimbabwe;

xx. Imposition of emergency health or security measures in certain countries with a view to unduly restricting the rights to freedom of association and assembly, in particular for opposition political actors, civil society and human rights defenders

xxi. Violations of the rights of older persons in Guinea-Bissau, including acts of violence and accusations of witchcraft xxii. The conflicts in Mozambique and Sudan and the migratory crisis in Tunisia and Libya are having a serious adverse effect on women’s rights in these countries, where cases of rape, ill-treatment and gender-based violations have been reported; xxiii. Persistence of violence against women and girls in the private and public sphere, including rape and other forms of sexual violence in many countries, xxiv. Persistence of harmful traditional practices such as forced and early marriages, humiliation, harassment, female genital mutilation and inhuman and degrading treatment of women and girls in several countries.

Refugees, Migrants and Internally Displaced Persons

xxv. Mauritania: Delay in the adoption of the bill to combat violence against women and girls, despite Government promises. This bill has been pending since 2012;

xxvi. Tunisia: Increased repression of dissidents and freedom of expression, as well as people prosecuted solely for their peaceful political activities and the exercise of their rights;

xxvii. Forced displacement: An increase in the number of people forcibly displaced by a combination of conflict, political violence, climate change and food insecurity in Africa - there will be around 44 million displaced people in sub-Saharan Africa in 2023 (according to the UNHCR) and Africa will host three-quarters of the world's new internal displacements;

xxviii. Refugees: in Sudan, since the start of the conflict in April 2023 and as a result of the ongoing violence, there have been almost 3.8 million internally displaced people, including 1 million who have fled to neighbouring countries (South Sudan, Egypt, Chad, Ethiopia, CAR and Libya), creating a real humanitarian crisis;

xxix. Refugees: Issuance of a directive to refugees residing and carrying out activities outside the Dzaleka camp to return there, by the Government of Malawi, even if it means forcibly resettling refugees in the camp. This constitutes a regression by Malawi in the protection of refugees' rights, when it was well on its way to implementing local integration as a solution to the situation of long-term refugees;

xxx. Internally displaced persons: in the Democratic Republic of Congo, the number of internally displaced persons has reached seven million, according to the International Organisation for Migration; xxxi. Migrant workers: in Libya, it is deplorable that the body responsible for combating illegal immigration has been continuing to expel foreign migrant workers for months; xxxii. Expulsion of sub-Saharan migrants by Tunisia.

Social and Economic Rights

xxx. 900 families expelled from the Democratic Republic of Congo without adequate compensation; xxxi. The lack of effective implementation of economic, social and cultural rights in a large number of African countries, leading to persistent socio-economic inequalities and the marginalisation of vulnerable groups; xxxii. The impact of climate change and deforestation on economic, social and cultural rights, in particular the right to food and health.

xxxiii. Insufficient funding and resources allocated to the realisation of economic, social and cultural rights in African countries xxxiv. Due to situations of armed conflict and the prevailing levels of insecurity in the central Sahel, the Lake Chad Basin and the Democratic Republic of Congo, schools have been forced to close. In Burkina Faso, for example, around a quarter of schools are closed for reasons of insecurity; xxxv. Soaring food and fuel prices in Africa, which are causing great vulnerability among the population and jeopardising the effective enjoyment of their economic and social rights; xxxvi. Increasing gender discrimination in employment, low wages that do not allow families to live decently, and the absence of social protection and social security systems in most African countries; xxxvii. Lack of social housing programmes in many countries.

Health and HIV

xxxvii. In 2022, women and girls accounted for 63% of new HIV infections on the African continent. Many sectors are deprived of prevention programmes, which perpetuates the risk. Efforts targeting these populations should be stepped up.

xxxviii. Despite advances, AIDS claimed one victim every minute in 2022. Millions of people are estimated to be living with HIV and not receiving treatment, while millions more receiving treatment are not virologically suppressed; xxxix. The vulnerability of the continent's women and girls to the HIV epidemic, in particular their ability to access health services; as well as the gap in testing of HIV-exposed infants and children, with more than two-fifths of children living with HIV undiagnosed;

Extractive Industries and the Environment

xl. Lack of a legislative and regulatory framework for the protection of human rights in the extractive industries sector, leading to an increase in human rights violations, in particular forced child labour and the plundering of the continent's resources by multinational companies;

xli. Africa continues to face a significant development financing gap, exacerbated by issues such as illicit financial flows, the debt crisis and difficulties in accessing climate change financing; xlii. The phenomenon of the resource curse has long deprived African countries of all the potential benefits of extracting their resources.

Peace and Security

xliii. Asymmetric armed conflicts, including those linked to terrorism, are undermining countries such as Sudan, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Mali, Mozambique, Burkina Faso and the so-called three-border area; xliv. The issue of unconstitutional changes of government and the socio-political upheavals in several African countries are a real source of concern, given their very harmful effects on the promotion and protection of human rights.

Human Rights Situation in the context of the COVID-19 Pandemic

xlv. Persistence and maintenance in certain countries of measures to control and combat the COVID-19 pandemic, which have become obsolete and superfluous, and are causing unjustified restrictions on human rights

56. In view of the foregoing, the Commission makes the following recommendations:

Four of these eight posts are at the appointment stage, while the other four are at the advertising and pre-selection stage. The remaining 12 staff members will be recruited as soon as funds are allocated.

58. The current level of permanent staffing is twenty-seven (27) regular positions out of the forty-seven (47) in the current structure.

XIII. IMPLEMENTATION OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL DECISIONS

a) Joint Retreat of the PRC and the Commission

59. Further to Executive Council Decision EX.CL/Dec.1045 (XXXIV) requesting the ACHPR "to institutionalise an annual joint retreat of the PRC and the ACHPR", the Commission reports that it has managed to schedule a retreat with the PRC's Sub-Committee on Structures to present the ACHPR's operational problem. This activity is scheduled to take place in Dakar, Senegal, from December 5 to 7, 2023.

b) Building of the Commission's Headquarters

60. In accordance with Decisions: Ex.Dec.1045 (XXXIV) and EX.CL/Dec. 1080 (XXXVI) requesting the AUC to "endeavour jointly with the ACHPR and the Government of The Gambia to establish a Special Fund for the mobilisation of resources and to take other concrete measures required, including the laying of the foundation stone, for the construction of the permanent Headquarters of the ACHPR", the Commission reports that on 20 October 2022, the title deeds for the land on which the future headquarters of the Commission will be built were handed over to the Deputy Chairperson of the African Union Commission, Dr Monique Nzanzabaganwa, at the ground-breaking ceremony held on the same day. The Commission also reports that during the intersession period, following several meetings with representatives of the host Government, the Secretariat was allocated a stand-alone building in Fajara to serve as a branch office pending the construction of the headquarters buildings. However, following an assessment by the Addis Ababa team appointed for this purpose, it was decided to transfer the Secretariat to Karaiba Avenue in a building that still needs to be renovated before the Secretariat can be moved there.

c) Creation of an Organ-level Appointments, Promotions and Recruitment Board (APROB)
61. In accordance with Decision EX.CL/DEC. 1097(XXXVII) of October 2020, and the AU Recruitment Procedures, the Commission recalls that the Chairperson of the AUC has approved the request for the establishment of an Appointments, Promotions and Recruitment Board for Organs (APROB), as of December 2021. This Council has been operational since then and was instrumental in the recruitments that have already taken place and are ongoing.

d) Issues relating to the governance of the Commission

62. During the intersession period, in accordance with Executive Council Decision Ex.CL/Dec.1126(XXXIX) specifically stated in the following terms "on issues specific to the other Organs of the AU, the ACHPR was to make a written submission to the Sub-Committee on Structural Reform regarding the challenges faced in respect of the governance structure of the Organ and recommendations that could help resolve these challenges. The report was to be submitted by May 2022". The Secretariat has presented a draft written submission to the Office of the Legal Adviser and the Bureau of the Commission for input, before it is finalised and submitted for decision by the Statutory Organs.

e) Revision of the Commission's Structure

63. In accordance with Executive Council Decision EX.CL. Dec.995 (XXX11) regarding the "review of the ACHPR Secretariat's structure to better align its composition and organisational chart to the mandate entrusted to it and to the increasing work over the years", the Commission states that the current ACHPR structure was last reviewed and approved in 2009. In order to ensure that the Commission has sufficient human resources to help it fulfil its mandate, it is using the current window of opportunity of the wider AUC reform to propose a stable structure that would meet the human resource needs of today and the next 15 years. The proposed structure has been reviewed by the Finance Directorate, the AUC Human Resources Management Directorate and the Office of the Legal Adviser. The Commission intends to present the proposed new structure to the next PRC Sub-Committee. Approval of the proposed structure will enable the Commission to align its Secretariat to its mandate.
