Programme: Institutionalization of a Conference of ECOWAS Ministers of Public Service

1.0 Introduction

- 1.1 The Third Biennial Pan-African Conference of the Ministers of the Civil Service held in Windhoek, Namibia, from 5th - 8th February 2001, had adopted a Charter for the Public Service of Africa. The Charter is aimed not only at reorientating the public service to its primary mission of serving the people and the government of the nation - states, but also at attuning the Public Service to the challenges of globalization. The Charter states the principles and rules of conduct (Notes) for public and state employees and also underscores the political will and moral commitment of African States to improve the services provided to citizens.
- 1.2 In the Windhoek Declaration issued at the end of the conference, African sub-regional organisations were tasked to ensure the application as well as the monitoring of the application of the charter by the governments of their respective sub-regions. This task is to be undertaken in collaboration with the African Centre for Training in Administration for Development (CAFRAD).

1.3 The Executive Secretariat therefore considered it expedient to create a common sub-regional public service forum for the implementation of the Charter.

1.4 To this end, the Executive Secretariat intends to hold a preliminary three day sensitization workshop or seminar to popularize the Charter and also to fashion out strategies for its continuous implementation.

2.0 Objectives of the programme

2.1 Overall objectives

The Creation of a sub-regional platform to promote the application in West Africa of the African Public Service Charter. This is aimed at bringing about a positive attitudinal change in public servants in the ECOWAS sub-region in relation to the Integration policies and programmes of ECOWAS.

2.2 Specific objectives

2.2.1 The specific objectives will be to take first steps and work out the modalities for the smooth implementation of the provisions of the Charter through the experts and Ministers of Public Service Administration of the ECOWAS sub-region.

3.0 Justification

Windhoek Declaration and the New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD)

3.1 As the agencies charged with the responsibility for the implementation of government policies, the need to structurally involve experts and Ministers of public service in the implementation of the charter cannot be over-emphasized. Effective application of the provisions of the charter must of course flow from the national level and interface with objectives adopted at the sub-regional level and thereafter with Regional objectives. Permanent framework for coordination required within the Regional Public Service and under the umbrella of ECOWAS is being envisaged.

4.0 Requirements

4.1 The Executive Secretariat envisages the funding of the participation of the experts from outside Nigeria as a way of ensuring an impressive turn out at the workshop. In addition three Resources Persons will be required to deliver papers and also participate in the programme.
